Wireless Help

NOTE: To ensure proper placement of your router, see the manual for similar products in your area for more information.

Placement of the Router

The operating distance of the router is significantly based on the placement of the router. To get the best performance, place your router:

- Near the center of the house
- In an elevated position
- Away from potential obstructions, such as walls, doors, and corners
- Away from large appliances

Note: Failure to follow these guidelines may result in signal degradation or inability to connect to the internet.
